JALSA · LUNCH

My 30-Day Healthy Lunch Plan

Low fat, not zero fat. High protein. Missed a day? Do the next one.

Protein + soup + 1 roti OR half rice

1. Find today's Day number.
2. Eat that lunch.
3. Tick the box ✓
4. After Day 30, start again at Day 1.

💚 Why not zero fat? Your body needs a little healthy fat to stay strong. This plan cuts the extra fat: butter, cream, ghee and fried food.

REMEMBER THESE

Golden rules

1 Tandoori roti, not naan

Ask: whole wheat, no butter. Naan: a rare treat.

2 Half plain rice OR one roti

Never both. Rice already comes with your plate.

3 Say: less oil, no butter

Butter and cream hide fat. A little oil is OK.

4 Grilled or steamed, not deep-fried

Deep-fried food soaks up oil like a sponge.

5 Say: less salt, no pickle

Too much salt hurts your heart and blood pressure.

6 Water, or chai with no sugar

Sweet chai, lassi and soda are full of sugar.

👨‍🍳 Say to the kitchen

- “No butter, less salt, no rice”
- “Light tadka, less salt, half rice”
- “Less oil, less salt, half rice”
- “One spoon chutney, less salt”
- “Roti wrap, no mayo, less salt”
- “No butter, less salt, half rice”
- “Less oil, less salt, no rice”
- “Little oil, less salt, no chutney”

☀️ Every day

- ✓ Water, then soup, then plate. Eat slowly.
- ✓ Walk every day. Start with 10 minutes.
- ✓ Muscle exercise 2 days a week
- ✓ No snacking on fried food at work
- ✓ Eat breakfast and dinner too. Same rules.

❗ Important

- Not zero fat: your body needs a little. Too much food makes body fat.
- Diabetes, kidney, heart, blood pressure, pregnant, breastfeeding, under 18, or on medicine? Ask your doctor first.
- Lose slowly: at most 1 kg (2 lb) a week. Eat 3 meals; never starve.
- Allergy? Tell the kitchen. Dizzy, chest pain, or always worried about food? See a doctor.
