My 30-Day Healthy Lunch Plan

Low fat, not zero fat. High protein. Missed a day? Do the next one.

Protein + soup + 1 roti OR half rice

1. Find the first day with no tick (page 3).
2. Read that day's card (pages 4–8) and eat that lunch.
3. Tick its box on page 3 ✓
4. After Day 30, start again at Day 1. Print page 3 again.
5. Dish not ready? Eat any 🟢 dish from page 9. Same Ask.

💚 Why not zero fat? Your body needs a little healthy fat to stay strong. This plan cuts the extra fat: butter, cream, ghee and fried food.

REMEMBER THESE

Golden rules

1 Tandoori roti, not naan

Ask: whole wheat, no butter. Naan: a rare treat.

2 Half plain rice OR one roti

Never both. Your plate comes with rice: ask for half.

3 Say: less oil, no butter

Butter and cream hide fat. A little oil is OK.

4 Grilled or steamed, not deep-fried

Deep-fried food soaks up oil like a sponge.

5 Say: less salt, no pickle

Too much salt hurts your heart and blood pressure.

6 Water, or chai with no sugar

Sweet chai, lassi and soda are full of sugar.

👨‍🍳 Say to the kitchen

- “No butter, less salt, no rice”
- “Light tadka, less salt, half rice”
- “Less oil, less salt, half rice”
- “One spoon chutney, less salt”
- “Roti wrap, no mayo, less salt”
- “No butter, less salt, half rice”
- “Less oil, less salt, no rice”
- “Little oil, less salt, no chutney”

☀️ Every day

- ✓ Water, then soup, then plate. Eat slowly.
- ✓ Walk every day. Start with 10 minutes.
- ✓ Muscle exercise 2 days a week (push-ups, squats)
- ✓ No snacking on fried food at work
- ✓ Eat breakfast and dinner too. Same rules.

❗ Important

- Not zero fat: your body needs a little. Too much food makes body fat.
- Diabetes, kidney or heart problems, high blood pressure, pregnant, breastfeeding, under 18, or on medicine? Ask your doctor first.
- Lose slowly: at most 1 kg (2 lb) a week. Eat 3 meals; never starve.
- Chest pain or very dizzy? Stop and get help now.
- Allergy? Tell the kitchen. Always worried about food? Talk to a doctor. Help is normal.
